Capcom Unveils Major Titles for Release in the Fiscal Year Ending in March 2013!

- Contributions are anticipated in the current fiscal year from Capcom's expanded lineup -

Capcom Co., Ltd. (Capcom) announced at Captivate 2012, which took place in Rome, Italy, starting on April 2, an updated list of launch dates for new games.

In the current fiscal year, which ends in March 2013, Capcom will release “Dragon’s Dogma”, a completely new action game, on May 24. “Lost Planet 3”, the next addition to the “Lost Planet” series that has been very successful worldwide, is scheduled to debut early in 2013. Capcom plans to reinforce the “Devil May Cry” franchise with the launch “DmC Devil May Cry”, which is now under development by Capcom and an overseas partner company.

In addition, Capcom has moved up the launch of “Resident Evil 6” to October 4. This new title will build on the popularity of the “Resident Evil” series, which has been an enormous hit worldwide and is one of Capcom’s best-known game series.

Along with the launch of these games, Capcom plans to introduce a number of other significant titles. Capcom expects that the consistent introduction of highly appealing content will make a contribution to consolidated results.

The multi-platform framework, in which each brand is offered for a number of game consoles or other types of hardware, is one of Capcom’s core strategies. Capcom has made its brands more powerful by distributing titles in its popular game series for many types of hardware. Capcom will continue to leverage its advanced content development capabilities and the benefits of basic research activities. The objective is to meet the high expectations of game players by introducing software for consoles and other hardware that are ideally suited to taking full advantage of the game play action and other characteristics of each title.
