Sales of All-New IP PRAGMATA Top Two Million Units in 16 Days!

- Unique gameplay, world, and storytelling earn high praise from players worldwide -

Capcom Co., Ltd. (Capcom) today announced that worldwide sales of PRAGMATA, the company's all-new IP released on April 17, 2026*, have surpassed two million units in 16 days since launch.

PRAGMATA is a science-fiction action-adventure game that depicts the journey of Hugh Williams and Diana, an android girl, in a near-future lunar world. Developed as a completely new IP, the title aims to deliver a fresh gameplay experience through its innovative fusion of action and puzzle elements, as well as its compelling characters and distinctive world setting.

Through marketing initiatives such as the early release of a playable demo, Capcom worked to expand brand awareness for the title prior to launch. In addition to its unique gameplay system, the game's emotionally driven narrative—depicting the growing bond between a human and an android girl—has attracted attention, earning high acclaim from players worldwide shortly after release, resulting in PRAGMATA achieving ongoing sales growth.

Capcom remains firmly committed to satisfying the expectations of all users by leveraging its industry leading game development capabilities in order to create highly entertaining gameplay experiences.

* The release date of the Nintendo Switch 2™ version in Japan and other parts of Asia is April 24.
